Citizens Views on Cable Service Told to Citizens

by Diane Oberg

Maryland Cable's franchise agreement with the city of Greenbelt expires in May 1998. The city, along with other county municipalities is beginning the process of renewing the franchise. According to Beverly Palau, the city's public information and communications coordinator, the city can only "kick a company out" under Federal Communication Commission (FCC) regulations, if the company has not lived up to its franchise agreement.

Palau noted, however, that the company has never had an exclusive contract. If another company wanted to compete for Greenbelt's cable business, the city could grant it a contract, as well, provided the two companies were treated as equal.

On July 29, the Greenbelt City Council held a public hearing to gather public comment on the company's service. A few days later, it was announced that the company was in the process of being sold (see separate story). According to Palau, the two issues will be treated separately. First the city (along with the county and other municipalities) will review the sale. Then, if the transfer of the franchise to Jones Intercable is approved, council will then consider the franchise renewal. For purposes of renewal, Palau said, the company would be treated as if it had held the franchise for the entire length of the contract.

In Compliance?

Victor Nicholson, of College Park, who has worked as a cable engineer and supervised the installation of the county's cable systems in 1982, argued that Maryland Cable (and its predecessors) has never complied with the franchise agreement provision calling for two-way services, as required by the FCC for cable systems in the nation's top 100 markets. He said that the one-way network currently provided must be supplemented with a two-way dual fiber link between the city "head end" and each school and public building in the city.

Nicholson urged the company to implement this public network and to supplement it with a coaxial network to homes. This would facilitate telecommuting. See CABLE, page 13

Another New Cable Owner

by Elaine Skolnik

Greenbelt cable subscribers will face their fifth cable franchise owner in 14 years if the proposed sale of Prince George's County's northern cable system takes place. Transfer of this system to Jones Intercable, Inc. must be approved by the county, which represents unincorporated areas and by 19 municipalities which award separate franchises.

Jones Intercable, Inc., through its subsidiary, Jones Communications of Maryland, has entered into an agreement to acquire from the present owner, Maryland Cable Partners, L.P./Goldman Sachs, the cable system in the northern area. This system serves approximately 87,000 customers in an area that includes Greenbelt, College Park, Bowie, Laurel, Hyattsville and others. The terms of the

by James Giese

The property managers for Springhill Lake Apartments, Winthrop Management, and Greenbelt city officials have reached accord over city efforts to have property standard violations corrected at the massive (2,899 unit) apartment complex in Greenbelt West. The city had been threatening to take actions which could have prevented management from leasing vacant units and imposed upon the apartment project hundreds of thousands of dollars in fines and fees. As it is, management did have to pay $18,600 in city imposed fines for failure to correct cited violations.

tions, but failed to meet time tables that they had proposed to which the city had agreed.

Coupled with the failure to correct the cited code violations in a timely manner was a deteriorating relationship between city officials and the project's then property manager. This led to Mayor Antoinette Bram writing a letter to Nat Ruccolo, senior vice-president of Winthrop Management on June 28 expressing concern that the apartments were in a state of decline. Bram asked for a meeting of city officials with Winthrop Management.

Strong Exception

Ruccolo responded to Bram on July 22, taking strong exception

Winthrop considers Springhill Lake to be a very significant property in its portfolio of over 30,000 apartment units.

—Nat Ruccolo, Senior Vice President
Winthrop Management

According to Planning and Community Development Director Celia Wilson, the property violations, for the most part, were not serious or dangerous problems. However, over 80% of the property was found to have code violations. In aggregate, the city considered the violations to be a serious problem.

Wilson advised that the problem had developed within the past year or so. Violations found by inspections made in May 1995 were not corrected until June 1996. By that time, the city had reinspected the apartments for 1996 and had issued new citations. Pending correction of the violations, the city had issued temporary occupancy permits for the apartment complex. Wilson noted that the project had been under temporary occupancy permits for over 15 months.

Violations

Some of the kinds of violations found at the project were: pot holes in the parking lot pavement, holes in the walls and pipes not secured in laundry rooms, rain gutters not anchored and downspout pipe bottoms missing, and peeling paint on exterior facades. Wilson noted that the apartment managers not only failed to meet city imposed deadlines for correction of violato her letter. To correct the Mayor's impression that Springhill Lake is in decline, he cited a current budget for improvements to the property of over $3 million and noted that another $1.5 million had been spent in 1995. He contended that Springhill Lake is currently more attractive and is experiencing higher occupancy than it has in many years. (Ruccolo later told the News Review that occupancy in August was 96.7% with 99% of the units leased.) Ruccolo agreed to meet with Bram the following week.

On July 31, three members of the city council, Mayor Antoinette Bram, Judith Davis and Rodney M. Roberts, Interim City Manager Michael P. McLaughlin, Supervisory Code Enforcement Inspector James Sterling and Police Lieutenant Daniel O'Neil met with Nat Ruccolo and Eric Bonnie, operations coordinator, of Winthrop Management to resolve the code violation issues.

New Management

According to McLaughlin, the Winthrop representatives explained to city officials that although Winthrop has been the leading owner of the $100 million property since 1985, it was not until May 1995 that Winthrop

Everything Is Set To Go At Labor Day Festival

by Konrad Herling & Sarah Ellis

The Greenbelt Labor Day Festival is only a week away and just about everything is set to go. Oh, the various organizations will have to pass their respective health inspections, Ken Voigt, et al. will perform sound and lighting tests, and photo and art exhibit participants will carry their entries to the Community Center and have them hung on Friday night. But the mood is one of anticipation, and as our Public Works Department builds the 40 or so booths, Greenbelters will know that the 42nd annual festival is about to begin.

What will be the opening cue? At 6 p.m., you'll hear the magnificent sounds of the Greenbelt Concert Band under the baton of Conductor Tom Cherrix. Shortly thereafter, Reverend Edward Birner, will announce this year's Outstanding Citizen. Then you may want to peruse through the festival grounds and check out the various booths and tasty delights. The usual treats—The Eleanor & Franklin Roosevelt Democratic Club's funnel cakes, the Committee to Save the Green Belt's frosty strawberry coolers and Boy Scout Troop 746's hot dogs will be there, but this year the Arts Center is preparing beef, ham and turkey sandwiches. As you work your way back to the stage, you may notice Art & Photography Exhibit participants taking their works to the Community Center to hang their pieces for your viewing pleasure (1-6 p.m., Saturday and Sunday). Returning to the main stage, the 41st annual Miss Greenbelt Pageant commences with its Master of Ceremonies, WAVA(FM)'s morning host, Rich Lee, who will not shock his Greenbelt audience, a la Howard Stern, but instead, will remind Greenbelters that its rich history continues. This marks Lee's third visit to Greenbelt. According to pageant chair, Natasha Jewell, "Rich loves coming to Greenbelt and being part of what makes Greenbelt special." Finally, at around 9 p.m., "Pauline & The Boys" will take the stage and keep your heart pacing. This country/variety rock group features Pauline Dross, a "powerhouse vocalist," Bob Hume and Cliff Schaumburg on guitar and Stan Raby on bass. All have a wide variety of musical experience, ranging from country to rhythm and blues to popular. Some of the group's favorite pieces are Elvis Presley's "Blue Suede Shoes", Aretha Franklin's "Respect" and the Drifters' "Under the Boardwalk."

Kids' Day

Saturday is Kids' Day, and there is plenty of recreation and arts activities for them. While the adults will be playing softball, tennis or horseshoes in the early morning hours, kids will have an opportunity to participate or observe three activities starting at 9:30 a.m. The "Kids' Game" which will take place on the open grass area between the Municipal building and the Community Center, will feature a number of races, ages infant to 12, from crawling infants to sack races, to balancing eggs on spoons while running. (See the Festival Calendar for more details). Also occurring at the Community Center Lawn will be the 26th Annual Pet Show, organized by Scout Cadette Troup 3030.

Adults and kids also can take advantage of the Arts & Crafts Festival which will be located closer to the library. The other morning activity is a T-Ball Hitting Contest for boys and girls, ages 4-9 at Braden Field #1. During the afternoon, children

Local Bank Robbed

An armed robbery occurred at NationsBank on Centerway on Monday, August 19. According to Officer George Mathews, spokesperson for the Greenbelt Police Department, two men entered the bank at 8:45 a.m., displayed "handguns of an unknown type and ordered everyone to the ground." One suspect jumped over the counter and removed money from the teller's stations.

"Both left in an unknown direction", Mathews said, adding that no one was hurt. Stocking masks covered their faces, he said, describing the men as black, one wearing dark pants; the other a dark jacket and dark clothing.

Investigation is continuing jointly between the Greenbelt Police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

CORRECTION

In last week's story on Herb Jones' retirement, we incorrectly identified Jones' Church. The correct name is Good Tidings Tabernacle. The News Review regrets the error.

Ridge Road Repair On Hold 3 - 4 Weeks

Reconstruction of Ridge Road in the North End will be on hold for about three to four weeks because of a delay in the storm drain inlets and piping. All of the asphalt base repair is complete and 90% of the curb and gutter and sidewalk replacement is complete.

Metrobus detours, needed when portions of Ridge Road were blocked, will not be needed for the next several weeks.

Free Immunizations Offered for Children

Free immunizations will be offered Saturday, August 24, from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m., at Children's Regional Outpatient Center of Laurel, 13922 Baltimore Ave., Laurel.

The occasion is the fourth annual "It's Wise to Immunize" Family Fun Fair. There will also be food and music and activities for children. Parents should bring health records for their children. For more information call 202-364-9552.

Asian Tiger Mosquito Found in P. G. County

The Maryland Department of Agriculture reports that an infestation of the Asian tiger mosquito has been found in Prince George's County. The mosquitoes have been found over a five square mile area along the southeast and northeast borders with the District of Columbia. To date, infestations have been found south of Rt. 50, west of Hill Road and Shady Glen Road, and north of Marlboro Pike and Walker Mill Road.

"Our Mosquito Control experts simply want to alert people to the presence of this mosquito so they will take steps to remove areas of standing water from their property, a favorite breeding ground for all mosquitoes," said Secretary Lewis Riley.

The Asian mosquito has the potential, under the right conditions, to transmit such diseases as dengue fever, yellow fever and several of the viral encephalitis diseases. These diseases are rare in Maryland.

Officials urge residents to remove areas of standing water from their property, to eliminate potential breeding areas. Containers should also be removed as the female lays eggs in containers, tires and tree holes. The eggs hatch when the container is flooded and adults emerge 1 to 2 weeks later.

For more information on the Asian mosquito, contact the Maryland Department of Agriculture, Mosquito Control Section, 301-927-8357.

took over management of the properties. Ruccolo told the city officials that the perceived drop off in quality of management is the result of this transition in management and the new managers focusing on completing nearly $4.5 million in capital projects at the apartment complex. The management firm, the eighth largest in the country, owns over 30,000 apartment units and considers Springhill Lake to be a very significant property in its portfolio, he told the city officials. It is Winthrop's philosophy to push their properties to the top of the grade and market niche in whatever area they are in.

City officials were told at the meeting that the focus of the management's activities would change given the seriousness of the code violation situation. Rudy Horton, former Property Manager for Springhill Lake when Lerner Corporation managed Springhill Lake, will now be more directly involved in dealing with the code violations. Horton had been working closely and amicably with the city on these matters in the past. Winthrop had first retained Horton to oversee the completion of the current capital projects. Also, Eric Raff became the new property manager in July.

Capital Projects

According to Ruccolo, Winthrop's capital projects include building a new leasing center, replacing project signage, installing fenced enclosures around dumpsters, replacing blinds in apartments with miniblinds, repainting exteriors, installing new toilets, roof replacement, and additional landscaping. The installation of security doors with telephone call systems is also being considered. He also noted that when

Businesses Discuss Programs at Goddard

Congressman Steny Hoyer met August 20 with the Goddard Alliance, representatives from Goddard and members of the Space Business Roundtable. The meeting focused on programs and priorities as well as ways to enhance the information exchange and dialogue between Goddard and the business community about future projects. Of concern were proposed drastic reductions in Goddard's budget during the last few years.

Funding for NASA's Mission to Planet Earth (MPE) should be finalized sometime in October, said Jerry Irvine, press secretary to Hoyer. MPE is designed to utilize observation satellites to increase understanding of the atmosphere and environmental changes to predict natural disasters.

Irvine noted that Hoyer and Senator Barbara Mikulski were active supporters of MPE and Goddard.

Goddard employs over 3,300 civil servants and provides 8,000 contract personnel positions in Maryland.

Winthrop became primary owner in 1985, over $15 million was invested in a massive renovation of the properties.

As a result of the meeting, Winthrop has paid the city $18,600 in fines for failing to complete 186 cited violations on time. In exchange, the city has agreed to extend until October 1996 the deadline for correcting these violations. Since Winthrop's failure to meet the July deadline, the city could have posted vacant apartment units as unlawful to be occupied, levied $100 daily fines on each occupied unit and imposed a $50 reinstatement fee for each occupied unit, according to Wilson.

Seniors Have Special Day at State Fair

A special day has been set aside at the Maryland State Fair in Timonium to pay tribute to Maryland's senior citizens. All Maryland residents age 55 and over will be admitted free. Grandchildren (under age 18) who accompany their grandparents will be admitted free until 6 p.m. on Thursday, August 29.

Plans for the day include an 8:30 a.m. Walk for Fitness—Walk to Win event which features a fitness walk around the fairgrounds, a complimentary continental breakfast, prizes and free lottery tickets.

Rockets Red Glare Exhibit at Riversdale

"By the Rockets Red Glare" will be a rousing tricentennial exhibit at Riversdale Mansion during August. Period weapons, uniforms and militaria of the War of 1812 are displayed. A highlight will take place on Sunday, August 25, from noon to 4 p.m., when War of 1812 reenactors display and fire military weapons as they prepare to invade Bladensburg. Come visit with the master and mistress of Riversdale as patriots rally 'round the flag and protect Riversdale from these British invaders. Perhaps in this replay the British can be driven from Bladensburg and the Federal City can be protected from the disaster suffered during the War of 1812.

There is a fee. Riversdale Mansion is located at 4811 Riverdale Road in Riverdale. This event is sponsored by The Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission, Department of Parks and Recreation, Prince George's County. The Department of Parks and Recreation is committed to accommodating individuals with disabilities into its programs.

Contact the facility manager if assistance is needed to participate or if there are further questions.

Hoeper has lived in the Washington area for 25 years but grew up in rural West Virginia. She taught English at Greenbelt Middle School for many years. She holds membership in Passageways Artists' Studios, Riverdale, and the Hyattsville Community Artists' Association, Hyattsville. She currently exhibits at the Artists' Gallery, Columbia, Maryland and the Watermark Gallery, Baltimore. She participated in the first group show at the Greenbelt Municipal Building. We are sorry to learn of the death of three year old Austin Robert William Turner, whose parents, Brent and Lisa Turner, prior to living in Cumberland were long-time residents of Greenbelt. Austin's sister is Ashley and his brother is Jason Millhollon.

Austin died as a result of an automobile accident on August 13 and will be buried in Vancouver, Canada. His grandparents, Charles and Norma Buemi, his aunt Niki Buemi and his cousin Caitlin Buemi reside in Greenbelt. Austin's maternal grandparents and other relatives live in Palm Springs and Canada.

Donations are being collected for a tree to be planted in Austin's memory. If anyone is interested in contributing, contact Charles Buemi of 7516 Mandan Rd.

Our sympathy to Ina Catchpole on the recent death of her husband, Percy Philip Catchpole.

Oliver Cone, a general foreman, has won a national award from Amtrak for sustained excellence. Cone started with the Washington Terminal Co. almost 45 years ago and joined Amtrak in June 1984. He was recognized for his contributions to wheel truing, a technique which reshapes worn railroad wheels.

T'ai Chi Practices Free, Open to Public

The public is invited to free, hour-long, community T'ai Chi practices at the Greenbelt Community Center on Saturday, August 31, 9 a.m., Tuesday, September 3, 7:30 p.m., and Wednesday, September 4, 6:30 p.m. No experience is necessary. These practices will provide an introduction to T'ai Chi for those who are interested in learning more about the art and a good workout for people who have practiced T'ai Chi in the past.

The practices will consist of very simple, slow, graceful, natural movements that anyone can easily do. These movements are the basic building blocks of T'ai Chi, the classic Chinese exercise for relaxation, health, self-defense and spiritual growth. Much has been written lately about the value of T'ai Chi in improving balance and reducing falls in senior citizens. Some of the current studies of T'ai Chi and its value for stress reduction and for improving mental focus will be discussed. For further registration information, contact the Community Center at 301-397-2208.

LABOR DAY FESTIVAL

will be offered a diverse range of arts programming on stage. From 1 to 2 p.m., Tracy McDonnell & the Estrogenics, a high energy avant folk trio, will provide a great concert for kids, as well as adults. From 2 to 3 p.m., Joe Pipik and His BackPack Puppets will charm the festival audience with a humorous and entertaining show. Designed primarily for young children, all ages have enjoyed the wit and whimsy of his clever production.

From 3 to 4 in the afternoon, the "Amazing Lula" provides a one-woman circus show. Check out her antics as she juggles, ropewalks and more.... The Torobics, a high energy aerobics group return to the Festival's program, and Arturo Oliva's Shotokan Karate class will demonstrate moves they've learned. If your kids aren't exhausted by this point, take them to the Talent Show.

From 5 to 6:15 p.m., The Talent Show will feature seven acts including Eleanor Pernia's Dance Studio, Drake Allen on guitar, a couple of lip sync groups, and some dances performed by youth members of the Bahai Church. Dennis Lewis has put together a decent gathering of dance and music artists, some of whom will be performing for the first time before a live audience. But the key, "is having fun" says Lewis, and this former softball coach has helped each performer with his or her sense of confidence.

Finally, World Beat music comes to Greenbelt as Distant Rumble provides a blend of African polyrhythms, jazz fusion and reggae. It will be an educational experience for many. Consider the instruments: agogo, doncoque bells, djembes and kalimbas, besides the more well known bass and acoustic guitars, drums, saxophone and xylophone. At 7:30, the "Miss Greenbelt" pageant begins its second night. Finally, at 9 p.m., Random Access, a Rock & Blues group will make sure you end your day's activities with happy, if somebit tired, feet.

A Few New Developments
Prospero Zevallos, this year's organizer for the photo exhibit, reminds those who wish to participate, to bring your works to the Community Center Friday evening, 6 to 8 pm. He's added a few new categories to help increase participation and augment the presentation. First, both framed and unframed photos will be accepted. Second, two new exhibits will also be included this year: The best images in the Maryland Professional Photographers' Association and Sixteen Images with Invisible Light (infra-red radiation). The exhibit will be on display, along with the previously mentioned Art Show, Saturday and Sunday afternoons, from 1 to 6 and Labor Day Monday, noon to 3. Zevallos has secured three sponsors for this year's show: Fuji, Custom Touch Labs and Eastern Camera. For information regarding prizes, etc., see the advertisement found elsewhere in this week's issue or contact Prospero at 345-3770.

thus reducing congestion and pollution, and provide enhanced educational capabilities.

Maryland Cable's General Manager David Wilson declined Mayor Antoinette Bram's invitation to respond to Nicholson. However, later in the meeting he said that the company was in compliance with its franchise requirements. Interim City Manager Michael McLaughlin agreed with Wilson's statement.

In response to a question about whether the physical "plant" of the cable network was wearing out, Wilson said it was not. The company has made $2.5 million in capital improvements to the system since taking over from Multivision. The improvements include installation of fiber optic lines. These improvements, he said, have reduced the number of system outages and the number of people affected by any outage.

Down Time

However, there were still some complaints about system down time. Norman Weyel said that his cable goes out whenever there is a heavy rain. An unidentified speaker also complained of weather related outages and urged the company to consider putting the system underground. That would be very expensive, said Wilson, and probably would not solve the problem. The system is dependent upon amplifiers that boost the signal every half mile or so. These amplifiers are powered by the Pepco power lines. If the power goes out, the system will go out, whether it is above or below ground, he said. Sheldon Goldberg of Windsor Green supported this, saying that the number of outages has been significantly reduced over the past couple of years. Goldberg also was pleased with the service he had been provided by the company during a recent outage.

Councilmember Judith Davis put forward issues raised in writing by citizens who could not attend the meeting. David Ginsburg complained about the company's scrambling of programs on the "A" cable. He could understand scrambling the premier channels, but the scrambling of other channels causes problems with his television equipment. Wilson, however, argued that the scrambling is the only way that the company can ensure that people only get what they pay for.

Eliminate A/B

Kay Bell wrote to request a single cable system, in place of the A/B system currently used. (Presumably this request stems from the fact that the dual system does not work with cable ready equipment or most universal remotes). Wilson said that the dual cable system allowed the company to provide more channels than any single cable system. He said that Greenbelt is fortunate to have one of the highest capacity cable systems in the United States.

Goldberg asked whether it was possible to, in effect, customize service to each household by computer selecting specific channels, such as is now done with premium channels, instead of offering just a few service packages. According to Wilson, the FCC does not permit any stations, other than those currently offered "a la carte," to be so offered.

Public Access

Robert Zugby, of Greenbelt Access Television, urged council to ensure that the city's public access needs are taken into account during the franchise renewal. The public access group needs $20,000 per year for a part-time manager and $25,000 - $30,000 per year for maintenance costs. He argued that the franchise holder has a "large responsibility" to finance a "great portion" of this amount.

Bev Wilson of Ridge Road asked why Mind Extension University was no longer provided. Wilson said that it had been provided by the county school system, which dropped it when it began including commercials. The company plans another customer survey of which channels subscribers would like to see added, and which they would be willing to trade off. This could lead to changes in the channels carried on the system, he said.

Drs. Hospital Gives Healthy Heart Series

Doctors Community Hospital will be hosting a Community Wellness Program titled "Healthy Heart." This series of four classes will begin on Tuesday September 3, with "Eating for a Healthy Heart," followed by "How to Lower Your Risk of Heart Attack" on September 10, "Chest Pain - Your Heart's Signal for Help" on September 17 and concluding with "Adult Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR)" on September 24. All classes will be held from 7 - 8:15 p.m. at Doctors Community Hospital, 8118 Good Luck Road, Lanham, in the Outpatient Services Building directly behind the main building, on the 5th floor. Pre-registration is necessary, and can be done by calling Doctors Community Hospital's Health Connection at 301-552-0044. There is a fee and the program is open to all interested community members.

transaction were not disclosed. Jones is not affiliated with the present owners in any way, according to James W. Carlson, the vice-president of communications of Jones Intercable.

Maryland Cable's system is contiguous to the cable system in the southern part of the county. In March 1996, Jones purchased MetroVision, the company that has owned and operated that system since 1982, the year the county awarded its first franchises. The acquisition of MetroVision and Maryland Cable (owned by Goldman Sachs & Co. and managed by the Texas-based Marcus Cable), will allow Jones Communications to serve 160,000 customers in the county and bring the company's total subscriber count in its Washington, D.C. cluster to approximately 400,000.

"With the addition of northern Prince George's County, our regional presence will be greatly enhanced, putting Jones Communications in a strong position as the telecommunications industry evolves," said Glenn R. Jones, Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of Jones Intercable, Inc.

Jones owns systems in Charles, Calvert and Anne Arundel counties and in Alexandria, Dale City, Manassas and Reston, Virginia.

Carlson noted that "The closing of the acquisition from Maryland Cable Partners, L.P. is subject to a number of conditions, including the consent of the governmental franchising authorities and other regulatory authorities having jurisdictions, and other matters. It is expected that the transaction will close in the first quarter of 1997."

With the purchase of both county systems by Jones occurring so close to the franchise renewal dates — the county in 1997, municipalities in 1998 — it is unclear how the refranchising process will be affected.

Jones is one of the nation's 10 largest cable television operators. It owns or manages operations serving 1.4 million customers in 20 states.

History

In 1982 Storer Cable was awarded the original cable franchise to serve the unincorporated areas and municipalities in the northern part of the county. Storer sold the system to Prime Cable Corporation Inc. in 1984.

Prime then sold its system to Maryland Cable Corporation (MCC) in 1988 with MultiVision serving as its operator. Later, in 1994, after MCC's bankruptcy, the county's northern cable system was purchased by Maryland Cable Partners, L.P./Goldman Sachs. Currently, Jones is negotiating to acquire the system.

Unclaimed Funds Search at State Fair

The State Comptroller's Office will again operate a booth at the State Fair in Timonium - August 24 through September 2 - to help fairgoers find out if they are the owners of unclaimed bank accounts, insurance benefits or other money turned over to the state. The booth, with three computer terminals, will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. in the main exhibition hall at the fairgrounds.

"The State Fair offers an excellent opportunity for Marylanders to find money that rightfully belongs to them, to their relatives or to their businesses," State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said. "Visitors to our booth can check to see if they are listed among the approximately 250,000 accounts worth about $68 million that have been reported to us over the past 30 years. Many times you may not realize that there are funds in your name. You may be the rightful heir to money or valuables that were not discovered when a relative died, or you might be due medical insurance payments that were misdirected in the mail," the comptroller said.

During the 1995 State Fair, 12,950 fairgoers checked the computer records and 966 found leads on $394,164 in money or valuables.

The Sound Scene

by Nick Mydra
What do Geoffrey dMers, Meagan Lane, Gary Loewenthal, and George Yamamoto have in common? They were at the New Deal Cafe last Friday night. They are also the musical group Second Story. Meagan Lane is the lead singer and bass player. Geoffrey dMers plays rhythm guitar, sings harmony, and performs on other instruments like the jews harp. Lead guitar is Gary Loewenthal. Sitting in on percussion was George Yamamoto. They had lost their drummer recently and this was George's second gig with them. I hope he stays. He calls himself a percussionist not a drummer. Classically trained he has no real experience on a full drum set-up like in a rock and roll band. Snare, congas, and cymbals are his main forte.

They bill themselves as a blues group. I wonder where the Second Story comes from? With the help of some electronics by Geoffrey a couple of songs had the steel band sound and gave it the music of the islands effect.

Meagan playing the bass guitar in a twangy style and George's pulsating rhythms on a couple of numbers reminded me of the theme song from the old Barney Miller T.V. show. "Ode To Billy Joe" in the first set was an upbeat number just as "Save the Last Dance" was to start out the second set. Gary on lead guitar is where much of the blues style of the group comes from. He can more than hold his own on the instrument. Meagan ended the first set singing Crosby, Stills, and Nash's "Darkstar". She has an interesting voice. The second set had them doing a couple of original songs. "Prince of Chappel Street" and one tune with no title. As one of the band members said "Name That Tune." I overheard someone at the next table say that they were the best group so far at the New Deal Cafe.

Again as always - if you missed it — maybe next time.

POLICE BLOTTER

Based on Information Released by the Greenbelt Police Department

An armed robbery in the 200 block of Lakeside Drive was reported around midnight on Saturday, August 10. The victims had just parked their vehicles when they were approached by a man who displayed a handgun. The man took the victim's money and jewelry and fled the scene on foot, possibly towards the rear of 7010 Greenbelt Road. The man is described as 5'11" to 6' tall, 20 to 30 years old, possibly wearing dark clothes and a hat.

An officer stopped a vehicle in the 7000 block of Greenbelt Road on Sunday evening, August 11, for not having a registration plate displayed. A computer check revealed the driver had a suspended license. The driver was arrested. A search of the vehicle uncovered a loaded Smith and Wesson 9mm semi-automatic handgun. The driver, a 33-year-old nonresident man, was charged with transporting a handgun in a vehicle and driving with a suspended license. The man appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was held on $2,500 bond pending trial.

A woman walking through a parking lot in the area of Breezewood Drive and Springhill Lane was the victim of a strong-arm robbery on Friday evening, August 9. A man, described as a black male, 5'5", thin build, short black hair and a dark complexion, ran up from behind and grabbed the woman's purse from her shoulder, breaking the strap. The man fled the scene on foot to the rear of 6120 Breezewood Drive. The woman was not injured in the incident.

Officers responded to the 7300 block of Hanover Parkway on Tuesday afternoon on a report of a disorderly person. The officers found several people yelling at each other. One of the participants continued to yell, interfering with the investigation. Officers asked the person several times to cease yelling, but he refused to do so. The man was placed under arrest and had to be forcibly taken into custody. The situation stemmed from a billing dispute at a nearby office, during which the man allegedly slapped an employee in the office. It was discovered that during the altercation the man left his two-year-old child unattended in a vehicle. The man, a 41-year-old nonresident, was arrested, charged with battery, disorderly conduct, obstructing and hindering and leaving a child unattended in a motor vehicle. The man appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was held on $1,000 bond pending trial.

An officer patrolling the area of Kenilworth and Old Calvert Road on Wednesday morning, August 14, noticed a vehicle with a registration violation. A computer check identified the tags as having been reported stolen to Fairfax City Police. The vehicle was stopped in the area of Greenbelt Road and 63rd Avenue. The driver, an 82-year-old nonresident man, was arrested, charged with theft, and released on citation pending trial.

Other thefts reported include: a writing pen, jewelry, and other personal items, from a hotel room at the Marriott Courtyard, 6301 Golden Triangle Drive, on Friday night, August 9; jewelry from a residence in the 8100 block of Burkhardt Court on Friday evening, August 9; money from a deposit bag in a retail store in the 6000 block of Greenbelt Road on Saturday morning, August 10; money from a residence in the 5800 block of Cherrywood Lane on Monday evening, August 12; stereo equipment from a residence in the 6100 block of Breezewood Drive on Wednesday, August 14; two computers from an office in the 6400 block of Golden Triangle Drive on Wednesday morning, August 14; and a wallet from a residence in the 100 block of Westway on Wednesday afternoon, August 14.
